

Holmes County Republican

LOCALS

MILLERSBURG, O., Nov. 7, 1872.

Notice to Subscribers.

Subscribers are always told how their subscription account stands, by looking at the figures after their names on the address label pasted on the margin of the paper. These figures show the exact date to which subscription has been paid. There may possibly be some mistake in the date. If any subscriber will please let us know what the error is.

Change in Mail Time.

On and after Friday, November 10th, the mail going North will close at 10:45 A. M. All letters for that mail must be in by that time. Mail going South will close at 3 P. M.

T. B. CUNNINGHAM, P. M.

Dedication.

The dedication of the Episcopal church at Elroy, will take place Nov. 17th. Service will begin on Thursday evening, and will be conducted by Elder J. H. Jones, as the principal speaker. Other speakers are expected to be present. The public are invited to attend.

Collision.

The morning express on the Cleveland, Mt. Vernon & Columbus railroad, collided with a freight train a little before 10 o'clock, Tuesday morning last. Both engines were badly smashed. No one was seriously injured. A dense fog was prevailing at the time.

Staling.

We are under obligations to Mr. B. F. Hettlinger for a beautiful pattern for slippers, nicely stamped. Mr. Hettlinger makes this a specialty. Persons who may desire any work of this description can do no better than by calling on him.

Posting Books.

There is no one, perhaps, in our town who can excel Mr. Henry A. Smith in posting books. He is a good accountant, and a splendid penman. Any one having accounts to post, or new books to open, will find him ready to do the work with neatness and dispatch.

A Slight Mistake.

We are informed that in the count of game after the hunt, a week last Saturday, the ridge side counted 7 quail, twice, by which means they gained the victory. Their opponents did not find out they had been over-reached until they had paid for the oysters.

Entertainment in Holmesville.

There will be an entertainment given in Holmesville on Thanksgiving day, 28th inst., under the auspices of the Methodist of that place, for the benefit of their Sunday School. It will consist of instrumental and vocal music, recitations and speeches: afternoon and evening, with supper between. A good time is expected.

Dangerous.

We notice that a lot of boys have been playing on the top of freight cars standing at the depot some days past. The cars will sometimes be full, and in running back and forward there is great danger of falling off. A misstep might nip them head foremost upon the railing which would finish their business for this world. Parents should see to it that their children are not allowed to play about the depot.

What is the Matter?

What are you thinking of? Two months of leap year only remain, and there is a large number of bashful young men and old bachelors who are in anxious-hearts, waiting and hoping for your proposals. Girls, if ever you meant business, now is your time. Just for the want of a little courage or decision now, you may be doomed to dry up, turn into vinegar, in short become old maids. Think of these things and take warning.

Photographs.

We lately visited the new Photograph establishment of Mr. N. F. Harrington, Orrville, Ohio, and found he was well prepared to do all kinds of work in his line. He has one of the finest establishments in this part of the State. For the next 20 days he will make all kinds of photographs at greatly reduced prices. Mr. Harrington received the first and second premiums at the Central Ohio Fair. All work returned free of charge.

A Fine Improvement.

Mr. Joseph Butler, proprietor of "Butler House" is putting a third story on his hotel building. He has the roof already on the brick portion of it, and will finish the frame part as soon as possible. This will give a great deal more room, and the house will be like a new house entirely. Mr. Butler's reputation for setting a good table is daily gaining customers for him. And now, with his lodging accommodations being improved, we predict for him a still greater run of business.

Fine Apples.

G. F. Newton sent, on last Monday, a barrel of very fine apples to the Agricultural Department at Washington, D. C. We saw the apples before they were barreled, and we think that they were as fine as any lot we have ever seen. Such a splendid variety. The varieties were Fall Pippin, Belmont or Gate, King, Bittersweet, Rome Beauty, Red Heart, Newtown Pippin, Tolpachuck, Pleasant, Baldwin, English Redstart, Jersey Black, Red Parnum, Kozewell Cooper's Market and Grimes' Golden Pippin. We doubt very much whether the Agricultural society can show a finer assortment.

Candy Toys for the Holidays.

Messrs. Taylor & Sharp have just received, in connection with a large stock of new furniture, a very handsome new Hearse and a good supply of collars. They are now prepared to attend to business in the Undertaker's line. The Hearse is very neatly and substantially gotten up, and the collars are such as to give good satisfaction. They request us to say that all business entrusted to them will be promptly and satisfactorily attended to. They are likewise ordering furniture every few days, and can supply all on short notice. Give them a call.

New Hearse.

Since newspaper postage has been reduced to one cent for every two ounces or fractional part thereof, it is said that a great many papers which are placed in the office never reach their destination. Persons wrap up two or three ounces, frequently weighing four or six ounces, attach a cent stamp and deposit the package in the postoffice, and that is just as far as it ever gets. Uncle Sam agrees to carry two ounces of newspaper—not four—for one cent.

New Goods.

A great variety of Boulevard Skirts just arriving, at from $2.00 to $3.00, at J. Mulvan's.

Roll of Honor.

The following is the Roll of Honor in our schools, for the month commencing Oct. 1st and ending Oct. 25th, comprising the names of those scholars, who were neither absent nor tardy once, during that month.

Oct. 1st to Oct. 25th, inclusive.

One hundred per cent. in their recitations:

HIGH SCHOOL.

D. F. Ingles, D. M. McCulloch, W. Vanhook, S. H. Tidball, W. Adams, W. E. Eberhart, Wm. McDowell, Lizzy Getz, Maile Moline, James Calloway, Emma Sharp, Lizzy Taylor.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL.

Frank McCulloch, Stephen Lisle, Linda Orr, Tina Cameron, Ida Ruly, Cora Sowers, John Peters, Anna Sheets, Jerry Day, Charlie Mayers, Lizzie Vrezer, Fanny Walkup, Emma McKill, Alice Remington, Eddie Franks, Louis Ahlborn, Willie Brown, Eddie Stiller, Mary Orr, Willie Chermeyers.

INTERMEDIATE.

Harry Holt, Edw. Beagle, Lily Whitely, Flora Donaldson, Anna Day, Nellie Parral, Jennie Work, Rosa Brown, Cora Gray, Sadie Mulvane, Louella Board, Nellie Beagle, Nora Reed, Lizzy Beagle.

JUNIOR PRIMARY.

John Barton, Thomas Hollinger, Fannie Orr, Anna Miller, Maggie Corcoran, Anna Stiller, Ida Fair, Emma McKill, Sarah Humm, Ida Perry, Charlie Wetman, Lizzie Joyce, Lillian Wright, Emma McComot, Louella Leppa, Lily Estill.

SECOND PRIMARY.

Frederick Beagle, Edw. Smith, Lizzy Beagle, Aaron Spicer, Charles Beecher, Debbie Spicer, Mary Moore, John Wolgast, Frederick Cameron, Emma McKill, Bennie Clark, Anna Marchant, Oliver Holmes, Lucie Wetman, Lily Richeson, Lucy Wetman, Nora McCulloch, Ella Day, Lena McKill, Mary Callup.

FIRST PRIMARY.

Ulrich McDowell, Lida Corcoran, Louise Seagle, Maggie Seagle, Fred Jackson, Fred Jackson, Ada Wholf, George Stiller, Ella Miller, George Stiller.

The following received one hundred per cent., but were not present every day:

Amie Van Evers, Lucy Layland, Lorenz Keller, Julian Hanna, Emma McKill, Eva Nimmacher, Loh Hoxworth, Howard Harper.

CHARLES LOUIS LOOS, Supt.

Market.

Honesty below par, but little in the market and no call for it, as it is out of fashion.

Clearly very little of the genuine in use, but in churches an artificial article is much used, chiefly to cover up sins, not in feeding the hungry and clothing the naked.

Justice, this article is turned away backwards and is known only by name. Truth is fallen in the streets and trampled under foot by men.

Falseness, trade brusk and sales assisted at all prices. The agent appointed not getting his keys in time.

We furnish Envelopes with a Business Card returned, nearly as cheap as the blank envelopes can be purchased elsewhere.

—Men who don't believe in advertising, generally go into partnership with the Sheriff, and have him do the advertising.

—Editing a newspaper is very much like raking a fire—every one thinks he can perform the operation better than the man who holds the poker.

—The Methodist Episcopal Church are talking of making their missionary work for the coming year reach $100,000.

—Upon being asked to support Greeley the other day, a countryman replied, he had enough to do to support himself.

—Through a correspondence based on a matrimonial advertisement, a young man in Louisville, Ky., recently proposed marriage to his sister, and was accepted.

—Young man, or young woman if you want a good thorough education at little expense, go to the Cleveland Railroad, says the Cleveland Herald of October 20th, which are perhaps of general interest. The track is laid as far as Strasburg, save a gap of two miles near Massillon, where there was quite a steep grade to be arranged. If the contractors are out of the way, as was expected, the journey will be made Tuesday evening. There is iron enough at Massillon to complete the road as far as New Philadelphia. The burning of Cambria Iron Works, in Pennsylvania, will detain the last thousand tons of iron, which were to be used between New Philadelphia and the Cleveland Railroad, the last nine miles of the road. Along the entire route, the ties are ready, and the bridging and grading are about finished. The burning of the mills will not detain the iron later than the middle of November, and by the first of December the managers hope to have the road finished as far as Uhrichsville where it connects with the Panhandle road. They are also actively engaged in locating the stations and switches, and preparing for the business of the road.

One train leaves this city, continues the road, at 2:30 P. M.; runs as far as Uhrichsville, the junction with the Cleveland, Mt. Vernon and Delaware road, and returning, reaches here at 9:30 A. M. the next day. A train also leaves Massillon in the morning and returns at night. In fifteen days the cars will be running as far as Massillon, and the Canal Dover by the middle of November.

The Old Story.

Last Thursday evening, John Morry, a lad of fifteen summers met with an accident, while fooling with a pistol which will result, no doubt, in crippling his left hand during his stay upon this mundane sphere. He had pulled the pistol out of his pocket when it prematurely went off, hitting him in the hollow of his hand passing lengthwise through, crushing the bone of one finger and just grazing another, he was standing close by. He had been cautioned about carrying the dangerous weapon only a day or two before, he like all boys, he knew better. We hope he has learned a useful lesson. Experience is a dear school, but one, in which the learner, never forgets the lesson. We shall offer no caution to other boys that we see or hear of carrying fire arms nearly every day, for it seems useless. Let them pass through the rough treatment of this victim, of the pocket pistol, and they'll quit—we think.—Ashland Times.

The Old Story.

Last Thursday evening, John Morry, a lad of fifteen summers met with an accident, while fooling with a pistol which will result, no doubt, in crippling his left hand during his stay upon this mundane sphere. He had pulled the pistol out of his pocket when it prematurely went off, hitting him in the hollow of his hand passing lengthwise through, crushing the bone of one finger and just grazing another, he was standing close by. He had been cautioned about carrying the dangerous weapon only a day or two before, he like all boys, he knew better. We hope he has learned a useful lesson. Experience is a dear school, but one, in which the learner, never forgets the lesson. We shall offer no caution to other boys that we see or hear of carrying fire arms nearly every day, for it seems useless. Let them pass through the rough treatment of this victim, of the pocket pistol, and they'll quit—we think.—Ashland Times.

The Old Story.

Last Thursday evening, John Morry, a lad of fifteen summers met with an accident, while fooling with a pistol which will result, no doubt, in crippling his left hand during his stay upon this mundane sphere. He had pulled the pistol out of his pocket when it prematurely went off, hitting him in the hollow of his hand passing lengthwise through, crushing the bone of one finger and just grazing another, he was standing close by. He had been cautioned about carrying the dangerous weapon only a day or two before, he like all boys, he knew better. We hope he has learned a useful lesson. Experience is a dear school, but one, in which the learner, never forgets the lesson. We shall offer no caution to other boys that we see or hear of carrying fire arms nearly every day, for it seems useless. Let them pass through the rough treatment of this victim, of the pocket pistol, and they'll quit—we think.—Ashland Times.

The Old Story.

Last Thursday evening, John Morry, a lad of fifteen summers met with an accident, while fooling with a pistol which will result, no doubt, in crippling his left hand during his stay upon this mundane sphere. He had pulled the pistol out of his pocket when it prematurely went off, hitting him in the hollow of his hand passing lengthwise through, crushing the bone of one finger and just grazing another, he was standing close by. He had been cautioned about carrying the dangerous weapon only a day or two before, he like all boys, he knew better. We hope he has learned a useful lesson. Experience is a dear school, but one, in which the learner, never forgets the lesson. We shall offer no caution to other boys that we see or hear of carrying fire arms nearly every day, for it seems useless. Let them pass through the rough treatment of this victim, of the pocket pistol, and they'll quit—we think.—Ashland Times.

The Old Story.

Last Thursday evening, John Morry, a lad of fifteen summers met with an accident, while fooling with a pistol which will result, no doubt, in crippling his left hand during his stay upon this mundane sphere. He had pulled the pistol out of his pocket when it prematurely went off, hitting him in the hollow of his hand passing lengthwise through, crushing the bone of one finger and just grazing another, he was standing close by. He had been cautioned about carrying the dangerous weapon only a day or two before, he like all boys, he knew better. We hope he has learned a useful lesson. Experience is a dear school, but one, in which the learner, never forgets the lesson. We shall offer no caution to other boys that we see or hear of carrying fire arms nearly every day, for it seems useless. Let them pass through the rough treatment of this victim, of the pocket pistol, and they'll quit—we think.—Ashland Times.

The Old Story.

Last Thursday evening, John Morry, a lad of fifteen summers met with an accident, while fooling with a pistol which will result, no doubt, in crippling his left hand during his stay upon this mundane sphere. He had pulled the pistol out of his pocket when it prematurely went off, hitting him in the hollow of his hand passing lengthwise through, crushing the bone of one finger and just grazing another, he was standing close by. He had been cautioned about carrying the dangerous weapon only a day or two before, he like all boys, he knew better. We hope he has learned a useful lesson. Experience is a dear school, but one, in which the learner, never forgets the lesson. We shall offer no caution to other boys that we see or hear of carrying fire arms nearly every day, for it seems useless. Let them pass through the rough treatment of this victim, of the pocket pistol, and they'll quit—we think.—Ashland Times.

The Old Story.

Last Thursday evening, John Morry, a lad of fifteen summers met with an accident, while fooling with a pistol which will result, no doubt, in crippling his left hand during his stay upon this mundane sphere. He had pulled the pistol out of his pocket when it prematurely went off, hitting him in the hollow of his hand passing lengthwise through, crushing the bone of one finger and just grazing another, he was standing close by. He had been cautioned about carrying the dangerous weapon only a day or two before, he like all boys, he knew better. We hope he has learned a useful lesson. Experience is a dear school, but one, in which the learner, never forgets the lesson. We shall offer no caution to other boys that we see or hear of carrying fire arms nearly every day, for it seems useless. Let them pass through the rough treatment of this victim, of the pocket pistol, and they'll quit—we think.—Ashland Times.

The Old Story.

Last Thursday evening, John Morry, a lad of fifteen summers met with an accident, while fooling with a pistol which will result, no doubt, in crippling his left hand during his stay upon this mundane sphere. He had pulled the pistol out of his pocket when it prematurely went off, hitting him in the hollow of his hand passing lengthwise through, crushing the bone of one finger and just grazing another, he was standing close by. He had been cautioned about carrying the dangerous weapon only a day or two before, he like all boys, he knew better. We hope he has learned a useful lesson. Experience is a dear school, but one, in which the learner, never forgets the lesson. We shall offer no caution to other boys that we see or hear of carrying fire arms nearly every day, for it seems useless. Let them pass through the rough treatment of this victim, of the pocket pistol, and they'll quit—we think.—Ashland Times.

The Old Story.

Last Thursday evening, John Morry, a lad of fifteen summers met with an accident, while fooling with a pistol which will result, no doubt, in crippling his left hand during his stay upon this mundane sphere. He had pulled the pistol out of his pocket when it prematurely went off, hitting him in the hollow of his hand passing lengthwise through, crushing the bone of one finger and just grazing another, he was standing close by. He had been cautioned about carrying the dangerous weapon only a day or two before, he like all boys, he knew better. We hope he has learned a useful lesson. Experience is a dear school, but one, in which the learner, never forgets the lesson. We shall offer no caution to other boys that we see or hear of carrying fire arms nearly every day, for it seems useless. Let them pass through the rough treatment of this victim, of the pocket pistol, and they'll quit—we think.—Ashland Times.

The Old Story.

Last Thursday evening, John Morry, a lad of fifteen summers met with an accident, while fooling with a pistol which will result, no doubt, in crippling his left hand during his stay upon this mundane sphere. He had pulled the pistol out of his pocket when it prematurely went off, hitting him in the hollow of his hand passing lengthwise through, crushing the bone of one finger and just grazing another, he was standing close by. He had been cautioned about carrying the dangerous weapon only a day or two before, he like all boys, he knew better. We hope he has learned a useful lesson. Experience is a dear school, but one, in which the learner, never forgets the lesson. We shall offer no caution to other boys that we see or hear of carrying fire arms nearly every day, for it seems useless. Let them pass through the rough treatment of this victim, of the pocket pistol, and they'll quit—we think.—Ashland Times.

The Old Story.

Last Thursday evening, John Morry, a lad of fifteen summers met with an accident, while fooling with a pistol which will result, no doubt, in crippling his left hand during his stay upon this mundane sphere. He had pulled the pistol out of his pocket when it prematurely went off, hitting him in the hollow of his hand passing lengthwise through, crushing the bone of one finger and just grazing another, he was standing close by. He had been cautioned about carrying the dangerous weapon only a day or two before, he like all boys, he knew better. We hope he has learned a useful lesson. Experience is a dear school, but one, in which the learner, never forgets the lesson. We shall offer no caution to other boys that we see or hear of carrying fire arms nearly every day, for it seems useless. Let them pass through the rough treatment of this victim, of the pocket pistol, and they'll quit—we think.—Ashland Times.

The Old Story.

Last Thursday evening, John Morry, a lad of fifteen summers met with an accident, while fooling with a pistol which will result, no doubt, in crippling his left hand during his stay upon this mundane sphere. He had pulled the pistol out of his pocket when it prematurely went off, hitting him in the hollow of his hand passing lengthwise through, crushing the bone of one finger and just grazing another, he was standing close by. He had been cautioned about carrying the dangerous weapon only a day or two before, he like all boys, he knew better. We hope he has learned a useful lesson. Experience is a dear school, but one, in which the learner, never forgets the lesson. We shall offer no caution to other boys that we see or hear of carrying fire arms nearly every day, for it seems useless. Let them pass through the rough treatment of this victim, of the pocket pistol, and they'll quit—we think.—Ashland Times.

The Old Story.

Last Thursday evening, John Morry, a lad of fifteen summers met with an accident, while fooling with a pistol which will result, no doubt, in crippling his left hand during his stay upon this mundane sphere. He had pulled the pistol out of his pocket when it prematurely went off, hitting him in the hollow of his hand passing lengthwise through, crushing the bone of one finger and just grazing another, he was standing close by. He had been cautioned about carrying the dangerous weapon only a day or two before, he like all boys, he knew better. We hope he has learned a useful lesson. Experience is a dear school, but one, in which the learner, never forgets the lesson. We shall offer no caution to other boys that we see or hear of carrying fire arms nearly every day, for it seems useless. Let them pass through the rough treatment of this victim, of the pocket pistol, and they'll quit—we think.—Ashland Times.

The Old Story.

Last Thursday evening, John Morry, a lad of fifteen summers met with an accident, while fooling with a pistol which will result, no doubt, in crippling his left hand during his stay upon this mundane sphere. He had pulled the pistol out of his pocket when it prematurely went off, hitting him in the hollow of his hand passing lengthwise through, crushing the bone of one finger and just grazing another, he was standing close by. He had been cautioned about carrying the dangerous weapon only a day or two before, he like all boys, he knew better. We hope he has learned a useful lesson. Experience is a dear school, but one, in which the learner, never forgets the lesson. We shall offer no caution to other boys that we see or hear of carrying fire arms nearly every day, for it seems useless. Let them pass through the rough treatment of this victim, of the pocket pistol, and they'll quit—we think.—Ashland Times.

The Old Story.

Last Thursday evening, John Morry, a lad of fifteen summers met with an accident, while fooling with a pistol which will result, no doubt, in crippling his left hand during his stay upon this mundane sphere. He had pulled the pistol out of his pocket when it prematurely went off, hitting him in the hollow of his hand passing lengthwise through, crushing the bone of one finger and just grazing another, he was standing close by. He had been cautioned about carrying the dangerous weapon only a day or two before, he like all boys, he knew better. We hope he has learned a useful lesson. Experience is a dear school, but one, in which the learner, never forgets the lesson. We shall offer no caution to other boys that we see or hear of carrying fire arms nearly every day, for it seems useless. Let them pass through the rough treatment of this victim, of the pocket pistol, and they'll quit—we think.—Ashland Times.

IN TOWN AND OUT.

—Don't trust a smile.

—In order—saw trout.

—Leaves are falling fast.

—Fix up your ice-houses.

—On the strike—blacksmiths.

—The Ohio cranberry crop is large.

—Always driving things—a hammer.

—Farmers are setting out fruit trees.

—Wild geese are on their way south.

—Corn-banking is the order of the day on all well regulated farms.

—One heavy laugh is better than a bucket full of tears.

—Now is the time to lay in your turkeys for Thanksgiving, 28th.

—The State Board of Public Works are on their tour of inspection.

—Akron is to have another steam fire engine.

—The gambler Morrissey lost $30,000 on the October elections.

—A great many chestnuts have already been shipped from this market.

—Prayer should be the key of day and the lock of night.

—Some quite foggy weather of late, but little rain.

—Frog concerts are closed for the season.

—To-morrow, to-day will be yesterday.

—Send us the news and we will print it.

—The little ones are counting the days from now until Christmas.

—I am getting fat, as the thief said when he was stealing fat.

—Those who close the door of science will never be in the dark.

—The most useful thing in the long run—Breath.

—Punch has found a man too lazy to labor under an impression.

—Crestline, O., is begging for water works.

—Ohio has the largest corn crop ever raised.

—Brazil, Indiana, is to be incorporated as a city.

—A tin rolling-mill is talked of at Wellsville, O.

—No man who is willing to work and is able to work need be idle at present.

—One kind word to a wounded heart is like sunshine to the earth after a rain. It causes it to bud and blossom.

—Fires which apple-butter kettles are hung send up their red glare nightly in the rural districts.

—It is out of the question now—a day to do a good business without advertising.

—The turnip crop is a good one this season. The quality of the turnip is excellent.

—Fanny Fern was the senior female writer of the country. Mr. Stowe now takes her place.

—Miss Agnes Livingston has relinquished her project of writing a book about her father.

—Our merchants anticipate a lively fall trade. Those who advertise most liberally will reap the richest harvest.

—People should remember that there is a very heavy fine for putting stamps that have been used before, upon letters that they wish to mail.

—A. H. Batlin, of Steubenville, was chosen Grand Master of the Masonic Grand Lodge of Ohio, at the late session of that body at Columbus.

—Billings says, "There ain't nothing that will completely turn a man into a pig."

—A Nantucket storekeeper advertises for sale, "Quack hawks, of all sorts and sizes; nippence apiece, and various prices."

—The mails have been somewhat irregular since the first of the month, owing to the fact that the agent appointed not getting his keys in time.

—We furnish Envelopes with a Business Card returned, nearly as cheap as the blank envelopes can be purchased elsewhere.

—Men who don't believe in advertising, generally go into partnership with the Sheriff, and have him do the advertising.

—Editing a newspaper is very much like raking a fire—every one thinks he can perform the operation better than the man who holds the poker.

—The Methodist Episcopal Church are talking of making their missionary work for the coming year reach $100,000.

—Upon being asked to support Greeley the other day, a countryman replied, he had enough to do to support himself.

—Through a correspondence based on a matrimonial advertisement, a young man in Louisville, Ky., recently proposed marriage to his sister, and was accepted.

—Young man, or young woman if you want a good thorough education at little expense, go to the Cleveland Railroad, says the Cleveland Herald of October 20th, which are perhaps of general interest. The track is laid as far as Strasburg, save a gap of two miles near Massillon, where there was quite a steep grade to be arranged. If the contractors are out of the way, as was expected, the journey will be made Tuesday evening. There is iron enough at Massillon to complete the road as far as New Philadelphia. The burning of Cambria Iron Works, in Pennsylvania, will detain the last thousand tons of iron, which were to be used between New Philadelphia and the Cleveland Railroad, the last nine miles of the road. Along the entire route, the ties are ready, and the bridging and grading are about finished. The burning of the mills will not detain the iron later than the middle of November, and by the first of December the managers hope to have the road finished as far as Uhrichsville where it connects with the Panhandle road. They are also actively engaged in locating the stations and switches, and preparing for the business of the road.

One train leaves this city, continues the road, at 2:30 P. M.; runs as far as Uhrichsville, the junction with the Cleveland, Mt. Vernon and Delaware road, and returning, reaches here at 9:30 A. M. the next day. A train also leaves Massillon in the morning and returns at night. In fifteen days the cars will be running as far as Massillon, and the Canal Dover by the middle of November.

Signs of the Zodiac.

A philosopher in the west writes Dr. Ayer for instructions under which sign he should be buried, and which he should take. Dr. Ayer's Pills for an affection of the liver and also under which sign his wife should be buried, and which he should take. Dr. Ayer's Pills for an affection of the liver and also under which sign his wife should be buried, and which he should take.

Signs of the Zodiac.

A philosopher in the west writes Dr. Ayer for instructions under which sign he should be buried, and which he should take. Dr. Ayer's Pills for an affection of the liver and also under which sign his wife should be buried, and which he should take. Dr. Ayer's Pills for an affection of the liver and also under which sign his wife should be buried, and which he should take.

Signs of the Zodiac.

A philosopher in the west writes Dr. Ayer for instructions under which sign he should be buried, and which he should take. Dr. Ayer's Pills for an affection of the liver and also under which sign his wife should be buried, and which he should take. Dr. Ayer's Pills for an affection of the liver and also under which sign his wife should be buried, and which he should take.

Signs of the Zodiac.

A philosopher in the west writes Dr. Ayer for instructions under which sign he should be buried, and which he should take. Dr. Ayer's Pills for an affection of the liver and also under which sign his wife should be buried, and which he should take. Dr. Ayer's Pills for an affection of the liver and also under which sign his wife should be buried, and which he should take.

Signs of the Zodiac.

A philosopher in the west writes Dr. Ayer for instructions under which sign he should be buried, and which he should take. Dr. Ayer's Pills for an affection of the liver and also under which sign his wife should be buried, and which he should take. Dr. Ayer's Pills for an affection of the liver and also under which sign his wife should be buried, and which he should take.

Signs of the Zodiac.

A philosopher in the west writes Dr. Ayer for instructions under which sign he should be buried, and which he should take. Dr. Ayer's Pills for an affection of the liver and also